Method of Delivery

Students who are unable to enrol at one of the NWU campuses for a contact programme in Education may enrol for the Advanced Certificate in Teaching (ACT) through the Unit for Distance Learning.

The programme is presented with scheduled whiteboard contact sessions at selected study centres and the use of the NWU's eFundi Learning Management platform. Examinations for students in the distance-learning mode are written at NWU examination centres.

All examinations are conducted at exam centres, with NWU staff setting the examination papers and assessing answer scripts, thus ensuring that all students have met the required module and programme outcomes. Distance Learning studies are only available in English as a medium of instruction.

Cost and Financial Assistance

All fees are annually adapted. Study fees are based on modules and students pay per module and not for the course as a whole: <https://wfp-lb1-rh7.nwu.ac.za/study-fee-cost-estimation/insecure>.
